B-TRAY hotel supplies are created with our planet in mind, optimizing every detail from packaging to power usage to ensure environmental protection.

Our secret? Our own well-stocked warehouse

Bas Ronteltap: “We are proud to deliver our products worldwide with speed and efficiency. The secret of our success is our own, large and well-stocked Netherlands-based warehouse, which provides a total storage capacity of 650 pallets (that's more than 60,000 products!). It enables us to ship our orders immediately, whether it concerns one or more than 500 pieces. We don't rely on third parties, that's a great advantage!”

Thanks to our trustworthy logistic partners, we can ship our orders in no time. Our own warehouse provides direct logistic services for a fast and secure delivery. We deliver them at the right time and place in a cost-effective way and to the satisfaction of our customers.”

Nothing too remote for B-TRAY

Our products can reach any corner of the world, even the most isolated places. From New Caledonia to Bora Bora, there is no place too remote for B-TRAY!

B-TRAY's environmental commitment

As a company, our goal is to deliver high-quality products for the hotel and hospitality industry while minimizing the impact on our planet. We aim to work with recycled raw materials and minimize harmful packaging (less plastics, biodegradable packaging, etc.).

As tree planting is a vitally important component in the fight against climate change and biodiversity loss, we partnered with WeForest, an international organization dedicated to planting trees and bringing back forests to make the earth cooler, alleviate poverty, and restore ecosystems. For every five wooden hospitality trays and three luggage racks that we sell, we plant a tree in Zambia or India.

B-TRAY is also affiliated with WeCycle, a Dutch non-profit organisation (WEEE recycling network). WeCycle ensures waste electrical equipment is collected responsibly and optimally processed into new raw materials. This helps us support a circular economy.

Worldwide projects

With the help of our large network of international clients, hospitality professionals and resellers, we are proud to do business in more than 100 countries. Our reference list includes some of the finest hotels in the world.

In addition to (international) hotel chains, individual hotels, and cruise companies, we are increasingly supplying service-oriented institutions such as hospitals, nursing homes, and universities.
